NEW ENTERPRISES THAT ARE ATTRACTING ATTENTION.

Late Utilization of Land in Sonoma Valley Making Business for Everybody.

THERE is no question but what there are better results and more financial benefits being gotten out of land in Sonoma Valley today than ever before. Lands, which formerly lay fallow from one year to another and brought in no revenue whatever are now the sites of little homes and the range of thousands of chickens. The chicken industry is rapidly becoming a leading one here, where formerly no attention was paid to it. Our running springs, feed and climatic conditions are favorable to chicken raising and a little experimenting on the part of some of our farmers has led to the convincing of many that Sonoma Valley is a good place for the poultry business, so we see much of our land to-day devoted to this purpose.

Summer resorts have also sprung up and much property is devoted to this kind of business which formerly served only as private dwelling places. Many of our summer resort people are building and adding on to their properties, for the summer trade is yearly on the increase.

The Justification of a Terrible Circumstance.

The story in the real life of to-day of a woman hung for crime in this country is almost too terrible to contemplate. The utter elimination of any individual who has shown criminal taint in the blood and badness bred in the bone is, however, the only way we can stop the perpetuating of crime.

In the case of Mrs. Rogers capital punishment seemed to be the only solution to the wicked problem of which she was the principle. So bad was this creature that we refrain from calling her woman. She contaminated her fellow prisoners and was instrumental in causing several prison scandals while behind the bars.

The deliberate putting to death of a human being seems terrible and when that human being is a woman it seems still more revolting. There is justification for it nevertheless. Is it not far better to exterminate what will eventually be the source of increased criminology than to wait for the law to fall, perhaps, upon unfortunate sons with unsought inheritance of crime handed down to them from a mother like this? Surely the law of cause and effect is appreciable here.

The manner of the Rogers woman's execution was brutally inhuman. There is no justification for that and it is to be severely condemned, but the fact of her being put out of existence is better for the race. It seems extreme and radical, but it is nevertheless undeniable that the human race will never be better until there is a weeding out of the bad and depraved. Much good is being done and should be done for any criminal who betrays the faintest spark or gives the slightest sign of good. The saving of a human being from the abyss of crime is the grandest work we can do for a fellow being. It is the weak and susceptible and diseased that needs help. If we turn them from an evil channel toward which they are drifting into the right stream we thereby assert a divinity in ourselves which is as high as any mortal could wish for. There is boundless work along these lines.

Natural law heals or weeds out. Social laws should preserve by the same methods. There is an apparent tendency to do this, but it has not yet been reduced to anything like an ideal basis.

The Proper View of Life.

To a young man with his life before him there often arises a quandary as to the proper view of life, for so many are the opinions, principles, creeds and philosophies of his fellows that he becomes confused as to just what ones should be his own.

To the youth grouping about for the proper view of life there is grave danger that he will acquire the undesirable, for those of morbid sentiment shout the loudest and those of unhealthy and rabid ideas present them most formidably.

The social and moral sides of life are perhaps the most important concerning which a young man should be rightfully impressed, for once he has gained the proper views along these lines he will be a high and fine type of man, no matter what his position in the world. Every young man should aim to acquire so much, and if he succeeds he can hold his head up and look his fellows in the eyes, feeling that no man is better than himself. Too often, however, young men do not aim to perfect themselves along these lines. They want only to be great—that is to say, successful in money matters or in the realization of their ambitions. But the so-called great and successful men are often far below the standard of true greatness. We need but to study the lives and philosophies of some of our greatest characters in history to know that as men they were not endowed with the qualities and views really great characters should possess. Some had dissolute views of morality, others unhealthy social ideas, yet they are set up as criterions for our young men.

To those with lives before them there should be just one ambition—to perfect self. The perfected self will be recognized sooner or later and reward and advancement will follow. Round out your character. Develop your talents. Do not swerve from what you once learn is the right course and you will come to understand that you are "a god in the chrysalis" destined for a higher sphere, though now you strive unnoticed and obscure in a world where only a few recognize the perfected type. This view of life may seem too ideal, but it does exist for some and it is a spark destined to be kept aflame until at last it will light the universe and warm the hearts of all men.

Intolerance at Bacon's Convention

The San Francisco Argonaut comments editorially on the prescriptive spirit manifested recently at Chicago as follows: "A curious instance of perfectly sincere intolerance was offered in the recent meeting of the Interstate Commerce Law Convention. This body called itself together for the purpose of discussing President Roosevelt's contemplated regulation of railway rates. The way in which the convention was called is a little nebulous, but none the less the fact remains it was apparently called for the purpose of 'discussion.' There were nearly a thousand delegates, but when the convention came together it developed that they did not all think exactly alike. But a certain portion of the convention at once assumed that they were the 'straight goods,' and that the other fellows were bolters. But the other fellows at once declined to accept this role and stated that they were 'it,' and that the other fellows were the rebels. As a result the convention broke in two in the middle, and two conventions were held. One resolved that anything President Roosevelt might do concerning railway rates was all right. The other resolved that the regulation of railway rates was a very complex subject, and deserved to be handled with great care. Both conventions then adjourned after a great deal of mutual abuse.

"The curious fact of which we spoke is the indisposition of the Roosevelt wing even to listen to the speeches of the other faction. When the other faction clamored for 'free speech' the Roosevelt faction serenely replied that they believed in free speech, too, if it was the right kind. We seem in this country to be rapidly drifting toward the condition existing in the Continental countries of Europe, where there is absolute intolerance for differences in political belief; in those uncomfortable countries the party in power is made up entirely of 'patriots,' and the opposition is made up entirely of 'traitors.' This is an unfortunate symptom in American political life."

All Run-Down

THIS is a common expression we hear on every side. Unless there is some organic trouble, the condition can doubtless be remedied. Your doctor is the best adviser. Do not dose yourself with all kinds of advertised remedies—get his opinion. More than likely you need a concentrated fat food to enrich your blood and tone up the system.

Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil

A NIGHTMARE

Gives point to the fact that excessive or irregular eating disturbs the digestion. Nightmare or night hag has its day time correspondence in the undue fullness after eating, with the belchings and sour or bitter rising so often experienced after too hasty or too hearty eating.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures dyspepsia or bad stomach. When the weak stomach is strengthened and invigorated the whole body shares in the increased strength derived from food properly digested and perfectly assimilated.

"I was a victim of sleeplessness and extreme nervousness induced by chronic indigestion and I felt heavy, tired and worn out continually," writes Miss Mary Smith, of 1613 No. Wahatch Street, Colorado Springs, Colo.

"Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery was the only medicine which relieved me. Within a week after I began using it that oppressive feeling after meals had left me, and I found that I was able to sleep better than for months previously. My appetite was gradually restored, general system was toned up, nervousness became a thing of the past and I have now been in splendid health for over nine months."

Sometimes a selfish dealer tempted by the little more profit paid on the sale of less meritorious medicines will offer the customer a substitute as being "just as good" as the "Discovery." It may be better for him because it pays better, but it is not as good for you. If you want the medicine that has cured thousands, and which you believe will cure you, 1000-page Doctor Book sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to cover postage only.

31 stamps for cloth-bound copy. Formerly sold for $2.50 to extent of over 500,000 copies. Every family should possess a copy for ready reference in case of sudden illness or accident. ## MACQUIDDY GETS CITY HALL CONTRACT

Work on New Structure Started—Edifice will be Completed Next August

John T. MacQuiddy, whose bid for building the new City Hall was $15,475, was formally awarded the contract for the erection of the new municipal structure at a meeting of the City Trustees held Saturday night.

MacQuiddy's bid was the lowest by $1,000. He has given a bond of $4,000 to guarantee the completion of the edifice according to contract. His bondsmen are C. Aguilon, Chas. Dal Pogetto, Julius Fochetti and L. Quartaroli.

Work on the new building has already started. The stone to be used will be a fine white stone from the Milani quarry, and the tile for the roof will be like that used on so many of the Santa Fe railway depots.

Mr. MacQuiddy calculates on finishing the building by August 1st if nothing unforeseen happens.

You can find anything you want in the present line at Mrs. Lutgen's.

SUSPECTED FIRE-BUG IN TOILS OF LAW.

Felici Del Carlo Held to Answer on Charge of Setting Fire to a Barn.

Felici Del Carlo was arrested here Tuesday on suspicion that he was implicated in a fire which on Monday morning destroyed a barn together with a horse and several tons of hay belonging to L. Quartaroli.

The fire broke out at four o'clock in the morning and when the fire-bell was still ringing and people were rushing toward the scene of conflagration Del Carlo, the suspect, was seen coming from the direction of the burning barn, and it is alleged, that he attempted to hide when he saw that he was being observed. On this information Del Carlo was arrested and taken before Judge Small for a preliminary hearing Tuesday evening.

Witnesses testified to Del Carlo's suspicious actions on the morning in question and the accused was held to answer to a charge of arson in $2,500 cash bail.

Del Carlo is said to have threatened to do harm to some half-dozen of his fellow countrymen in this place. He was formerly employed by Mr. Quartaroli, but no trouble ever occurred between Del Carlo and his employer. A brother of Mr. Quartaroli and the accused attended school together years ago in Italy.

Del Carlo denies that he had anything to do with setting fire to the barn. He claims that he went from the Swiss Hotel, where he was stopping, to the house of a friend, where he tried to arouse some one to go with him to the fire. Failing to do so he started back toward the hotel, which accounted for his being seen coming from the fire instead of going toward it.

Del Carlo is said to have served four years in San Quentin for a robbery committed in Santa Cruz. It is also reported that he has a wealthy father residing near San Jose.

The fire which destroyed Quartaroli's barn is one of three mysterious blazes which have occurred here in the past few weeks.

Injure Themselves by Boyish Pranks.

The two young Poulson boys came near losing their eye-sight last week through boyish pranks. They placed some acetelyne carbide in a bottle with water and corking it up shook it so violently that the gas quickly formed and the bottle exploded. The flying glass cut one of the youngsters over the eye and the other one on the hand, but otherwise they fortunately escaped injury.

Proceeds Were Large.

The Ladies' Aid of the Congregational Church estimate the bazaar and rummage sale, held last week, realized $210, most of which is net and will go toward carrying on the general church work of the year. The rummage sale Saturday afternoon was a great feature and about $40 were realized from this source. Messrs. Watters and Cunningham contributed much to the success of this portion of the affair by acting as auctioneers.

Value of a Modern Improvement.

How modern improvements put cities into better shape and make them more safe and desirable to live in was apparent at the fire early last Monday morning. On that occasion the all-night rural telephone service was resorted to by the Quartaroli family to call out the fire department, and the fire alarm sounded almost instantly after the discovery of the blaze.

PATHETIC DETAILS OF PERRY SEARS' DEATH

Dies Suddenly on Lonely Road and Faithful Dogs Keep Watch Over Body.

Last week news reached here of the death of G. C. P. Sears, a former resident of this valley, but no details were available. Since that time we have obtained the following pathetic particulars of his death:

At the time of Mr. Sears' death, and for several months previous, he was a trusted employee of E. J. Miley of the Humboldt City Copper mine, Nevada. As nearly as can be ascertained, he died about November 30th, some forty miles from the Humboldt House, a station on the overland route.

He carried the mail between the two places, and was often gone ten or twelve days, so his absence caused no alarm until the time arrived for his reappearance at the mine.

A searching party was then sent out and found Mr. Sears' body lying on the ground in front of his horses, which were partially hitched at a safety station on the road. Everything indicated that his death had been very sudden. In the opinion of the searching party, who found the remains on the 6th of December, the horses had stood all of six days and nights at their post. One of the animals was expected to die, while the other was in a very precarious condition.

His two faithful dogs, who always accompanied Mr. Sears, were beside the remains keeping vigil over their dead master, and were so exhausted that when food was offered them they were too weak to partake of it.

Mrs. R. J. Snyder, the sister of deceased, who resides here, was communicated with and had the remains of her brother brought to San Francisco, they being accompanied by the foreman of the mine.

An Episcopal minister, the Rev. Mr. Lee of St. James' parish, San Francisco, officiated at the funeral services, which were held at the Odd Fellows cemetery of that city. The services were private. The body was then cremated, according to the wishes of the deceased. The ashes will be deposited by Mr. Snyder in her family vault here.

Perry Sears was well-known in Sonoma, where he spent many years of his life. He leaves besides many friends to mourn his loss, a widow, Mary P. Sears of San Francisco, and his sister, Mrs. R. J. Snyder of this valley.

ANOTHER INCENDIARY FIRE

Quartaroli's Barn and Contents Destroyed

Another fire alarmed the slumbering people of this place about four o'clock Monday morning and lurid flames that lit up the sky in the eastern part of town guided those who answered the summons of the fire bell to the scene of conflagration.

The flames came from L. Quartaroli's barn, which with a horse, seven tons of hay, vehicles, harness, etc., soon went up in smoke, nothing being saved.

The fire was discovered by Mrs. Baletti, Mr. Quartaroli's mother-in-law. She was awakened at about 3:45 o'clock on the morning in question by the reflection of a bright light on the window of her bedroom. She immediately looked out and seeing the barn in flames aroused the household.

An alarm was turned in but even before Mr. Quartaroli could reach the door of the burning building, distant about fifty feet from the dwelling house, the flames were so hot and had gained such headway that he was even unable to rescue his horse from the burning barn and the poor beast was incinerated alive.

The firemen were on the scene in a short time but nothing could be done except to protect the residence and adjoining buildings.

The fire was undoubtedly the act of an incendiary.

The loss was about $1,000, which was partially covered by insurance.

Fred Duhring Meets With Accident.

Nothing was thought of the occurrence at the time but a little later on his wrist became very painful and Dr. Fred Sprague was called in to treat the injury. It then developed that his wrist was dislocated and several ligaments torn. He has been wearing his arm in a sling all week but the injury is healing rapidly.

Masts and Rigging.

Each of the three masts of all but very small vessels consists of a number of sticks one above another. The "head" of the topmast comes a little below the "head" of the lower mast and is secured by a "cap," a sort of iron band, and a bar, called a "rod." Above the topmast comes the topgallant mast and above that the royal mast.

The running rigging consists of ropes used in handling the yards and sails, and every rope has a distinguishing name. Halyards are ropes used to hoist yards and sails. Braces are ropes used to swing the yards around by.

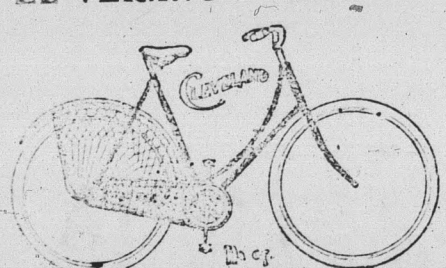

To the beginner the names of ropes are apt to be very confusing. Old salts are fond of spinning a yarn about a lad who wanted to go to sea until he heard that the fore topgallant block sailing moom triced the thing block mooming was the name of about the smallest bit of rope on board ship, when he at once concluded that, such being the case, he could never expect to master the name of the largest rope and consequently decided to become a farmer.

"Some weeks ago during the severe winter weather both my wife and myself contracted severe colds which speedily developed into the worst kind of la grippe with all its miserable symptoms," says Mr. J. ## A Fine Sense of Humor.

The Russian Emperor Ivan IV. once ordered one of his high court officials to procure for him a measure full of fleas, and when the poor man failed, through the friskiness of the insects in jumping out of the measure, had his head cut off and inflicted a fine of 7,000 rubles on the city of Moscow for its share in the failure. On other occasions he would wander away into the country with some boon companions and a few caged bears, and when he came to a peaceful village would let slip the bears and shriek with laughter as the villagers rushed for safety or fell victims to the hungry animals.

Wouldn't Work Nowadays.

The Egyptians had a very remarkable ordinance to prevent persons from borrowing imprudently. An Egyptian was not permitted to borrow without giving to his creditors in pledge the body of his father. It was deemed both an impiety and an infamy not to redeem so sacred a pledge. A person who died without discharging that duty was deprived of the customary honors paid to the dead.

To Die in the Last Ditch.

The phrase "to die in the last ditch" is stated by an English authority in such matters to be an Americanism, originating during the civil war. In fact, it was first used by William, prince of Orange, who during the war with France was asked what he would do in case the troops of Holland were defeated in the field and who replied, "I will die in the last ditch."

Coughing Spell Caused Death

"Harry Duckwall, aged 25 years, choked to death early yesterday morning at his home, in the presence of his wife and child. He contracted a slight cold a few days ago and paid but little attention to it. Yesterday morning he was seized with a fit of coughing which continued for some time. His wife sent for a physician, but before he could arrive another coughing spell came on and Duckwall died from suffocation. Ballard's Horehound Syrup would have saved him. 25c, 50c and $1.00. Sold by L. S. Simmons.

An Emergency Medicine

Forsyths, bruises, burns, scalds and similar injuries, there is nothing so good as Chamberlain's Pain Balm. It soothes the wound and not only gives instant relief from pain, but causes the parts to heal in about one third the time required by the usual treatment. As it is an antiseptic all danger from blood poisoning is avoided. Sold by Shoults & Co.

Not Encouraging.

"But," said the persistent editor, "if I were to prove to you that I would go to the end of the earth for you?"

"First," replied the Boston girl, "you would have to prove to me that the earth really has ends, and that, you know, is quite impossible."—Philadelphia Press.

Must Be Quick

Pains in the stomach and attacks of the colic come on so suddenly and are so extremely painful that immediate relief must be obtained. There is no necessity of sending for a doctor in such cases if a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy is hand. No doctor can prescribe a better medicine. For sale by Shoults & Co.

Heart Fluttering

A Portrait in His Legacy

During the month of August Elizabeth an English girl, daughter of wealth arrived in England, of a distinguished family near Shrewsbury, but that his leg was the hindrance in the country or kingdom and staked estates worth £20,000 on the subject. He won the wager, and a picture is still preserved in the family mansion representing the process of measuring the legs of the different contestants.

A Certain Cure for Croup

When a child shows symptoms of croup there is no time to experiment with new remedies, no matter how highly they may be recommended. There is one preparation that can be depended upon. It has been in use for many years and has never been known to fail. Give it and a quick cure is sure to follow. Mr. M. P. Condon of Market, Texas, says of it: "I have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in several cases of croup with my children, and can truthfully say it always gives prompt relief." For sale by Shoults & Co.

Make Your Money Work

for you

Many of the world's greatest fortunes have been made by people who invested their savings in the Smiths' Cash Store. You don't often hear of such opportunities; they are kept for a few lucky friends of the firm, but this advertisement was written to tell you that you can

Buy an Interest in a Big Paying Business

Of course you have heard of SMITHS' CASH STORE. It is the biggest Mail Order House on the Pacific Coast, and is likely to be the largest west of Chicago. Now just five (5) years ago you could buy stock in Smiths' Cash Store for $100 a share. That stock today is worth $1000 a share. You don't often hear of such big jumps in so short a time. And California will develop more within the next five years than it has in the last five. If you want to get into it, just make draft, check or money order payable to SMITHS' CASH STORE, Inc., or FRANK A. SMITH, Pres. If you would like to know more of the Cash Store, call and see or mail this coupon today—it is no way to obligate you.

Your Money will Earn You 30 Per Cent

That is what investments in stock in Smiths' Cash Store are paying in earnings and discounts on purchases. You are not reading a fabulous prophecy of what may happen if—

Why We Want You for a Partner

Increased capital, you know, means increased business. The more partners we have the greater the volume of the business. If you own only a share of stock you are entitled to owners' prices on everything in the store. And there is absolutely nothing that you require for eating, use or wear that you can't buy in Smiths' Cash Store. We make you a partner in the strictest sense. You have material interest in every article that goes in or we occupy.

The Price of Stock will be Advanced very shortly. This may be your last chance to buy stock in this big Cash Store at $1000 a share. When you consider that your stock will pay for itself from the money you save on household necessities, and you must realize the profit of this investment. Hundreds of new customers are buying here every week. The reputation of this big money saving Cash Store is reaching every part of the West. Take advantage of this opportunity to share its prosperity and become a partner now. If you know what a big thing this is and if you want to get into it, just make draft, check or money order payable to SMITHS' CASH STORE, Inc., or FRANK A. SMITH, Pres. If you would like to know more of the Cash Store, call and see or mail this coupon today—it is no way to obligate you.
